While I am building app, It is asking me to add some of the Jcenter dependency also for above 75mb. I wonder, which setup I should go for, adding only my app name or adding all the libraries within an app. A: Adding a lot of libraries can break your build as every dependency does not necessarily need to be available in all devices. A lot of libraries can only be found in the playstore or if they are recent updates in the libraries project itself. So depending on what you f678ea9f9e
